TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

I have known KEVIN R CASSELL since January 1995 when he was appointed as a Lecturer in the School of Language and Literacy at the Fiji College of Advanced Education. He had the opportunity to work with Australian advisers and local counterparts in the training of pre-service Junior Secondary School Teachers for two years.

Kevin's input into the preparation of pre-service courses offered at the College has been of great value and extremely beneficial. He also made meaningful contributions to course development, implementation, review and revision throughout the period he was working at the College.

He is undoubtedly a reliable and dedicated worker who is always prepared to carry out additional duties with great enthusiasm, pride and perseverance. He is a wonderful person to work with and possesses good personal qualities. He has developed good working relationship with other members of the academic and administrative staff as well as students. Kevin has a matured personality. He is dependable and can be expected to carry out specific duties in a very responsible manner.

Kevin is a hardworking person who always have a professional and positive attitude towards his work. He communicates well with others. With his keen sense of responsibility and fine social qualities, Kevin has been a great source of strength for the College.

He is a resourceful person who has made significant contributions in the School of Language and Literacy as well as the professional development of the College. He has the potential and drive to excel in his specialised field. I have found him to be self reliant and has the ability to work independently and adjust himself to new situations.

The College takes this opportunity to thank him for the services rendered and wish him well for great success in his future endeavours.

I have no hesitation in recommending KEVIN R CASSELL as a suitable candidate for a teaching position he has applied for.
